

Friendship of ROTBTD

by BabyBird101

Category: How to Train Your Dragon, Rise of the Guardians
Language: English
Characters: Hiccup, Jack Frost
Status: Completed
Published: 2013-08-31 23:23:02
Updated: 2013-08-31 23:23:02
Packaged: 2016-04-26 14:59:20
Rating: K
Chapters: 1
Words: 482
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: This was going to be a series but I lost all of the inspiration. So this is just a one shot now. Cute little thing on what I think the big fours friendship/romance it would be. No spoilers. If you want to know read it. :D

Friendship of ROTBTD

When Merida first saw Jack Frost her unwillingness to be married turned to ashes. If she have that beautiful amazing face to herself she would happily burn her freedom.

She loved him with a fiery passion. And with each word and movement this passion grew brighter.

She loved the fight and bravery in him, things she could never have in herself. She loved the red hot emotion he put into everything he did. He fought with controlled fury and held joy with fiery intensity. But he seemed lost in the world.

She wanted to give him something to fight for.

* * *

>When Rapunzel first saw Jack Frost her need to see the lights faded . If she could have that beautiful kind face to herself then she would happily let her dream fly away.

She loved him with a gentle heart throb that quickened with every movement and word.

She loved the kindness and faith in him, things she could never have herself. She loved the care and trust he put into everything he did. He fought with a strong heart and stayed joyfull through the darkest times. But there was a sadness in him.

She wanted to heal his broken heart.

* * *

>When Hiccup first saw the girls his fear of being discovered training Toothless flew away. If he could have either lovely being for himself he would happily proclaim his secret.

He loved them each with a school boy crush and as each moment passed his crush grew.

He loved the passion Merida put into everything and he loved the kindness Rapunzel had. Things he could never have himself. They both fought with fury and finesse and both had deep joy in the world around them. But both felt trapped and helpless in thier own lives.

He wanted to be their knight in shining armor.

* * *

>When Jack Frost first met these three kids his longing to be beloved in and seen vanished. If these three could see him forever then he could stay invisible for everyone else.

He cared for each with a joyful friendship, not feeling any deeper emotions for the girls as Hiccup seemed to. With everything they did he could feel their bond grow tighter.

He liked the way Merida could pour all of her emotions into everyhting, the Way Rapunzel could trust whole heartedly, and Hiccup's loyalty to his friends. All those traits he could never have himself. But they all seemed distant.

He wanted to be their best friend.

* * *

>They all wanted something or someone for diffrent reasons. They found things in the others they wanted in themselves while not noticing the ones they had themselves.

These four had to work together? We're doomed.

**I know this is under short bout there will be longer ones. They will be random scenes, sniptis, one-shots/two shots, ideas etc.
**

**if you have an idea review or PM me :D **

**R&R! **

End
file.